The ChampionsTX performance teams have been making waves in the Austin community this year! Both their cheer and gymnastics teams have been sharing their talents and passion for their respective sports at multiple events throughout the 2024-2025 season. These young athletes have worked tirelessly to perfect their routines, and their dedication has truly paid off. Their performances have left a lasting impact on the community, and their aspiration will create many special memories for years to come.

Their first appearances of the season kicked off back in October. Both the CCA Cheer team, also known as the ChampionsTX Cheer Academy, and five Gymnastics show teams performed in front of a live audience. The CCA Cheerleaders electrified the sidelines at the WAYA Flag Football Playoffs – boosting team spirit with their high-flying stunts, cheers, and tumbling. Meanwhile, the Gymnastics show teams made their debut at the UT Elementary Spooktacular Carnival, dazzling the audience with their routine. The event was particularly special as it brought together the Hot Shots (Kindergarten), Mighty Mightys (1st Grade), Super Stars (2nd & 3rd Grade), and Team Extreme (4th Grade) for the first time in a public performance.

As the season progressed, ChampionsTX continued to spread joy and athleticism throughout the community. A highlight of the year was the team’s participation in Austin’s beloved Trail of Lights. Nearly 50 athletes performed an energetic routine dazzling the crowd with their tumbling, dance, and spirited stunts. The festive performance truly embodied the holiday spirit and brought smiles to families, friends, and strangers alike.

The teams continued their community outreach into the new year. In February, the teams visited multiple independent living facilities, bringing warmth and entertainment to the residents with their routines. These routines were more than just a performance — these visits fostered meaningful connections between both the gymnasts and the residents. These relationships flourished as the new friends built puzzles, shared stories, laughter, and snacks. This time together made for unforgettable moments of intergenerational bonding.

One of the most heartfelt events of the season was the “Cartwheels for Cassidy” fundraiser. ChampionsTX rallied around 5-year-old Cassidy, a cherished member of their extended family. Cassidy was born with Cerebral Palsy, and recently underwent an intensive surgery. Athletes secured pledges for each cartwheel completed, ultimately raising enough funds to provide Cassidy with new leg braces. This incredible effort showcased the true heart of the ChampionsTX family — one that values not only athletic excellence but also kindness, generosity, and unwavering support for one another.

Since its inception in 1995, ChampionsTX has been committed to building “All Around Champions,” and this year has been no exception. The show teams have not only impressed audiences with their performances but have also demonstrated the power of community, teamwork, and giving back. As the season continues, there is no doubt that these young athletes will keep inspiring those around them with their talent, dedication, and spirit. Stay tuned for more exciting performances and community outreach from ChampionsTX!

28th Annual Brandy Perryman Shooting Camp

During the basketball season, if you walk into a local gym, you will most likely find a coach focusing his/her team on the offense or defense for the upcoming game. How often does the average basketball player focus on individual skills during that time? Not much!

For obvious reasons, the focus during the season is on the team rather than the individual. That’s why the summertime is the best time for an aspiring player to improve his/her own skills—particularly the lost art of shooting.

Brandy Perryman knows a thing or two about shooting. His record 90% free throw shooting average during his 4-year career at The University of Texas still stands. He is also ranked 5th for 3 pointers made in Longhorn basketball history. Those 43 camps he attended as a child must have paid off. They are still paying off as Perryman prepares for his 18th annual Brandy Perryman Shooting Camp in the Austin area, teaching boys and girls ages 7-16 the lost art of shooting.

BPSC is a 4-day shooting intense basketball camp mirrored after all the campers Perryman attended and enjoyed the most as a kid. He has taken those camps with his combined playing experience, creating an upbeat, positive experience for Austin area youth.

All camps include 32 hours of instruction, which is approximately the same amount of time as a month of practice in Middle School or a full season of a youth league. Daily team competitions are the highlight of the week, allowing kids to be a part of a team with no pressure and to have fun.

To promote self-esteem and self-discipline, BPSC includes individualized drills and competitions throughout the camp that all campers have an opportunity to excel at and improve their shooting skills. An average camper shoots over 1,000 shots over 4 days at BPSC.

The 10:1 camper to coach ratio allows campers to develop skills in a small group. These coaches include head coaches, assistant coaches, collegiates, and former players who share the knowledge and enthusiasm required to be a BPSC camp instructor.

By instructing 16,000 campers over the past 27 summers, BPSC has gained a reputation as the premier basketball camp in Central Texas.

Creative Writing with Badgerdog

Hosting campuses include Meridian School, Griffin School, Parkside Community School, Austin International School, and Trinity Episcopal School

Badgerdog’s Creative Writing Summer Camp has given Austin youth a space to fall in love with writing for more than 10 years, with its opportunities for self-expression, learning from a professional writer, and publishing original work.

Badgerdog hosts summer writing camps for rising third graders through twelfth graders, where students can explore the arts of poetry, fiction, nonfiction, and playwriting. All campers have opportunities to read, write, and share their original work.

Each summer, Badgerdog publishes two professionally produced anthologies, one for elementary-aged writers and one for middle and high-school writers.

Badgerdog provides everything needed for summer camps: pencils and notebooks

Sharing creative work is a plus at Badgerdog camps

Summer camps are available all over town, with several sessions in June and July. The three-week and two-week camps include fun exercises in poetry, fiction, non-fiction, and other forms of creative writing. Additionally, high school students can sign up for a novel-writing camp. Badgerdog Creative Writing is a project of the Austin Library Foundation, which also sponsors the Austin Youth Poet Laureate Program and the Mayor’s Book Club. More information is available at austinlibrary.org.
